

NOBODY'S PERFECT- TEA TREE PLAYERS THEATRE

Sunday April 28, 2024, at 1PM & Monday April 29, 2024, at 7:30PM at Tea Tree Players Theatre

Directed by Theresa (Lilly) Dolman

After many rejections, shy divorced statistician and aspiring novelist Leonard decided to enter his novel under the pseudonym Myrtle Banbury into a competition mounted by a feminist publishing house Love is All Around, for women by women and he won. So, what did he do when the editor decided she wanted to meet him face to face to discuss terms? The answer, with the lead character dressing up in drag, descended into complete farce and unleashed a very complicated and funny chain of events. Could he convince her that he was a woman and could he trust his roguish father and streetwise daughter to become his 'partners in crime'.

Roles:

Leonard/Myrtle- a statistician, single parent, frustrated with life, stage age 45 - 55

Harriet- publisher, determined, hardworking, stage age 45-55

Dee Dee- Leonards daughter, typical teenager, slightly rebellious, stage age 16-19

Gus- Leonards father, bit of a rascal, scheming, stage age at least 65.
